MOTTO

“I Think I Can! I Think I Can!”

DEDICATION

We, the class of 1953, dedicate our yearbook to a person whom we shall always remember for his gentle ways, his cheerfulness, and his constant willingness to help. We wish to say "thank you" to one who, through the years, has been a helper and a friend,

FOREWORD

As our days at Ellis draw to a close, and we prepare to face a new and unknown future, we compare our lives to a train, pulling out of a station, and continuing on its journey until it reaches its destination. The years we have spent here at Ellis have been a vital part of our lives, in which we have grown both mentally and spiritually. As a train receives fuel at the station for its journey, we have gathered knowledge and a deeper understanding of ourselves and others, in preparation for our coming years.

Many times the roadbed on a railroad track is rough, compelling the train to slow down, and making the going difficult. We experienced similar hardships, which sometimes make us wonder if the goal which we set for ourselves was too high. We often became discouraged and lost the spirit to try; but, as the engineer and conductor on a train keep it going with determination, so our faculty and staff urged us on, helping us to rise above disappointment and discouragement, and praising and encouraging us when we progressed in the right direction.

Our time is up. We must leave now, to go on to our next stop—college. As the train of life pulls out of the station, we look sadly back on our wonderful years at Ellis, so full of memories; then, proud of our background and sound education, we look optimistically forward to our ultimate destination.

Class Prophecy

On the twentieth day of January, in the year 1976, large crowds of people gather around the new mono-rail train which will make its first trip to the United States capital, where its passengers will witness the inauguration of the first woman president, Miss Chardy Bayles.

The crowds give particular attention to the car which has been prepared for the Ellis class of 1953, the guests of honor at the inauguration. There is great excitement as nine intellectual women float down the thick white carpeting towards the end of the car where a smoke-filled television room is located. As the women file into the room, Helen West, world renowned cheerleader, leads them in chanting the well-known cheer recited daily in their senior year at Ellis. Helen makes a few remarks and dedicates the cheer to President-Elect Bayles. Now that the good old Ellis spirit has been renewed in their hearts, the ladies seat themselves in the green plush seats.

The nine ladies, looking around, notice that someone is missing. Everyone asks the same question at once: "Where's Honey?" Among the nine voices a foreign accent can be heard . . . "Ou est Honie?" As they turn to see who this French woman is, they see a shining spectacle, Esther Siegle, wearing her newest Parisian earrings. Just as they are about to comment on Miss Siegle's earrings, they are startled to see a Rolls Royce limousine whiz past the train and stop with a screech. Newspaper reporters from all over the nation snap pictures of the magnificently dressed Miss Honey Bartley. Miss Bartley, now a great social success, has just fainted, recalling a habit acquired at Ellis. To her rescue rushes Miss Mary Lou Jewell, president of Johns Hopkins Medical School, with her newly patented reviving fluid. Dr. Jewell, however, is having some trouble in plowing through the minks in which Miss Bartley is wrapped.

After this preliminary excitement, everyone boards the train again. Now all of the class of 1953 are present except Chardy. As everyone is getting settled once again, a low mumbling is heard as if someone were in a trance. Everyone is relieved, however, when they see that it is only Liz Senell reading from her treasured dictionary, The Senell's American. Liz is taking her dictionary to Washington with her so that it may be dedicated as the national dictionary, replacing the Webster's Collegiate. Next to her, Esther Siegle is explaining the way in which she discovered the cure for cancer a few months ago, and the many tests through which the medicine had to pass before it was accepted by the American Medical Society.

Esther, however, finding she is talking to a deaf ear, decides to listen to Sylvia Cohen, whose twelve children are also in the car. Sylvia is telling how she secured the stock of Scripps Howard and Hearst after her newspaper overwhelmed the nation. Just as Sylvia has finished explaining this to the group, wild yells are heard from the television room. Sylvia, recognizing the voices of her children, rushes back to find them in a fight with Anne Kyle's five children. After separating the children, Anne decides to keep them quiet by trying to teach them to enunciate and sing "The Star Spangled Banner" with spirit. Anne's children do quite well, but Sylvia's, for some unknown reason, cannot seem to carry a tune. Now Marilyn Crawford, who has just replaced Eugene Ormandy as conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, comes to the rescue and takes over with great musicianship. She has just said that she was offered a position with the Metropolitan Opera Company, but turned it down for the present.

Ann Copeland, unable to bear the singing any longer, decides to interrupt the choral group by making a last plea for class dues. At this moment, a shrieking noise resembling a fire alarm frightens the passengers. Ann, being well trained in conducting orderly fire drills at Ellis, leads the crowd off the train. After a few moments, one of the naive children, guiltily admits pulling the alarm for a joke. Ann, taking over with the efficiency acquired at Ellis, immediately begins to count to see if everyone is present. The group is startled to hear that Ruth Lawrence is missing.

All board the train once more to find Ruth buried deep in thought in her seat where she is conscientiously writing her acceptance speech as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in Bayles' administration. She is a little nervous, but Dr. Jewell has promised to supply her with some medicine to keep the blushes away.

After discussing the past twenty-four years of their lives, the ten ladies find themselves at the National Capital. They all descend from the train and walk together to the Capitol to attend Chardy's long anticipated inauguration.

This year the Junior Class hopes that it has started the precedent of having an annual Junior Prom; for, thanks to the hard-working committees, this year's prom was a huge success. But, of course, success was to be expected, for the Junior Class has shown, by the amazing popularity of its book covers, that it is a class with a fine sense for business and profit. This observation could also be made in regard to their booth at the Fair. In fact, throughout the past school year, Room 1 has been simply humming with scores of money-making ideas, some of which were considered so excellent that they are being held over for next year, when the Juniors will finally and miraculously become Seniors.

That's our picture you see above. We may look dead on our feet or we may even look just plain silly, but actually we are witty, charming, and extremely intelligent. Ask our teachers; they'll tell you!

You should have seen us at our Sophomore Picnic! Our arms still ache from carrying those cases of pop down into Frick Park and then carrying the empty cases back up again. As for our famous "skinless" wieners, well, somehow they managed to fall between the grate and the fire. But they really were tasty!

As the year rolled on, our enthusiasm and vivacity seemed to gradually decrease. Christmas vacation descended upon us, with the happy thought of facing mid-years upon our return! We shall skip the results and proceed to the Fair.

The Fair was, as usual, a great success, especially when Shady Side arrived. Due to our expert planning, we managed to come out without debts, which is frequently unusual.

Well, finals are over, and it really seems strange not to be thinking, "Oh, we have that miserable essay to write for Monday," or "I've got five hundred pages to read this week-end for my book report." But none of us can deny that we've had a full and marvelous year, and come next September, we'll all be back.

The Freshman year has been very important to the class of 1956. By the beginning of this year, we were, of course, mostly accustomed to the Upper School, but we have had new experiences, too. For the first time, we were eligible for the Glee Club, and we were very proud when four of our classmates became members. Also, for the first time, the class of '56 was represented on the Patchwork staff, the Ivy board, and in the Dramatic Club. Several Freshmen became members of Chi Eta Phi.

Our class of twenty-six is the largest in the Upper School. We were, naturally, divided into two groups; and unfortunately, because of this, we were together as a complete class for only two periods a day. Thus it was difficult at first to achieve the unity necessary for a strong, well-coordinated class. We, as a class, believe that we have been successful in entering enthusiastically into all phases of school life.

In its first year in the Upper School the Eighth Grade has found a new and different life. With the help of Mrs. Crook, the fears of grades and teachers have left us. She has given us this year, a feeling of being at home. We are glad to welcome back Diane Mercer, and to have with us Linda Strem and Susan Sturgeon. We feel the subjects this year are new and interesting. We are all very happy that the Middle School teachers have prepared us for the Eighth Grade, and we hope that with the help of the Upper School teachers we will keep up to par with our marks.

Our class is known to be rather disobedient. Wherever you hear a chatter there is bound to be an eighth grader. Our class, though very talkative and noisy, seems to get along rather well with the teachers. Although there are very few in our class, we have a number of athletes and three or four very musical students. Throughout the year we have tried to be as much of an asset to the Upper School as possible.

The Student Council

President	Ruth Lawrence
Secretary	Jean Armentrout
Treasurer	Mary Charlotte Bayles

The most important job of the Ellis Student Council is to build up an honor system in the school. With this goal in mind the Council has organized an Honor Study Hall for those girls who are willing to follow certain restrictions without a proctor. By trial and error the Council is gradually improving the system used in the study hall and the library.

Other activities of the Student Council change somewhat each year. For example, this year the Council has started giving grades in citizenship and has added a Citizenship Honor Roll that corresponds to the Academic Honor Roll. Important besides the specific activities of the Council is the duty to mediate between the students and the faculty.

The aims of the Council sometimes seem beyond reach, but each year adds experience and new ideas that help this group to near the goal of a responsible honor system in Ellis.

The Ellis Guild

President	Barbara Mullen
Secretary	Judith Cohen
Treasurer	Betsey Boshell

The Ellis Guild, which was established several years ago, is an organization to help those who are in need and to support various charitable organizations. Some of the organizations to which the Guild contributes are CARE, Heart House, Cerebral Palsy Fund, Grenfell Mission, United Negro College Fund, Red Cross, and the Tuberculosis League. In order to support these different groups, the Guild sponsors a fair every spring. The proceeds go immediately to these associations. This year, the Guild is under the able leadership of Barbara Mullen, president, and Mrs. Amundson, faculty adviser.

Seated—M. Trondle, J. Cohen, R. Frame, S. Cohen, M. Dauler, J. Davis.

Standing—D. King, J. Beall. absent: S. Sayers

The IVY

Editor-in-Chief	Ruth Frame
Associate Editor	Judith Cohen
Business Manager	Sylvia Cohen

Poems from the Middle School—short stories from the Upper School—where? In the Ivy, of course! For that long awaited day is here at last, the day the Ivy is published. See the editor's and the business manager's faces beam! Their hard work is over. No more dashing back and forth from the printer's with mile-long galley sheets! No more prodding and coaxing to get those stories in! No more frantic meetings with Miss Fairlamb and no more hectic movies where a dozen candy bars fly from the box and only seven nickels fly in! Ah, peace! It's wonderful! I can just sit quietly here in the library and—Hey! Leggo my arm!—What's going on?—An Ivy meeting? Oh, of course! Now the Ivy comes out twice a year!

The PATCHWORK

Editor-in-Chief	Sylvia Cohen
Business Manager	Rolinda Winston
Copy Editor	Jean Davis
Art Editor	Ann Copeland
News Editor	Betsey Boshell
Typing Editor	Susan McKee

The Patchwork, the school newspaper, published monthly at Ellis, originated two years ago with the purpose of making the students more aware of news within the school. This year the staff has consisted of about thirty-five girls from the Upper School. There are five smaller staffs within the large staff, with an editor or manager at the head of each. These staffs cover the five main departments: business and circulation, copying, typing, news, and art. The aim of the entire staff is to improve the journalistic standards of the Patchwork and to make the paper representative of Ellis life.

Chi Eta Phi

President Anne Kyle

Secretary Virginia Gantner

Chi Eta Phi is the nondenominational religious organization at Ellis. Its name stands for the Greek letters which represent Catholic, Hebrew, and Protestant religions. The main purpose of this group is to give the girls a better understanding of faiths other than their own. Throughout the year speakers representing the different denominations spoke to the girls, and informal discussion groups were held for the purpose of exchanging religious beliefs.

The Ellis Glee Club

President	Marilynn Crawford
Business Manager	Mary Charlotte Bayles
Librarian	Ruth Lawrence

The Glee Club, a group of thirty-five girls, has been a very successful organization this year. Under our very able and fine director, Mrs. James Evans, we have accomplished a great deal and enjoyed ourselves at the same time.

We have taken trips to Kiski and St. James Schools for joint concerts and dances. Our annual concert with Shady Side and the one with Mercersburg were both great successes. We also had a Parents' Night program in which we sang for our parents and faculty, and told them something about the "inner workings" of our club. The Ensemble, a group of eight Juniors and Seniors chosen from the Glee Club, performed special numbers at all our concerts. The group met every Sunday to rehearse at the various members' homes, under the direction of Marilyn Crawford, the student leader.

The Glee Club has experienced a wonderfully successful year, and the enthusiasm of the members will keep it one of the most important organizations in the school for years to come.

Dramatic Club

President Nellie Lou Jaffe

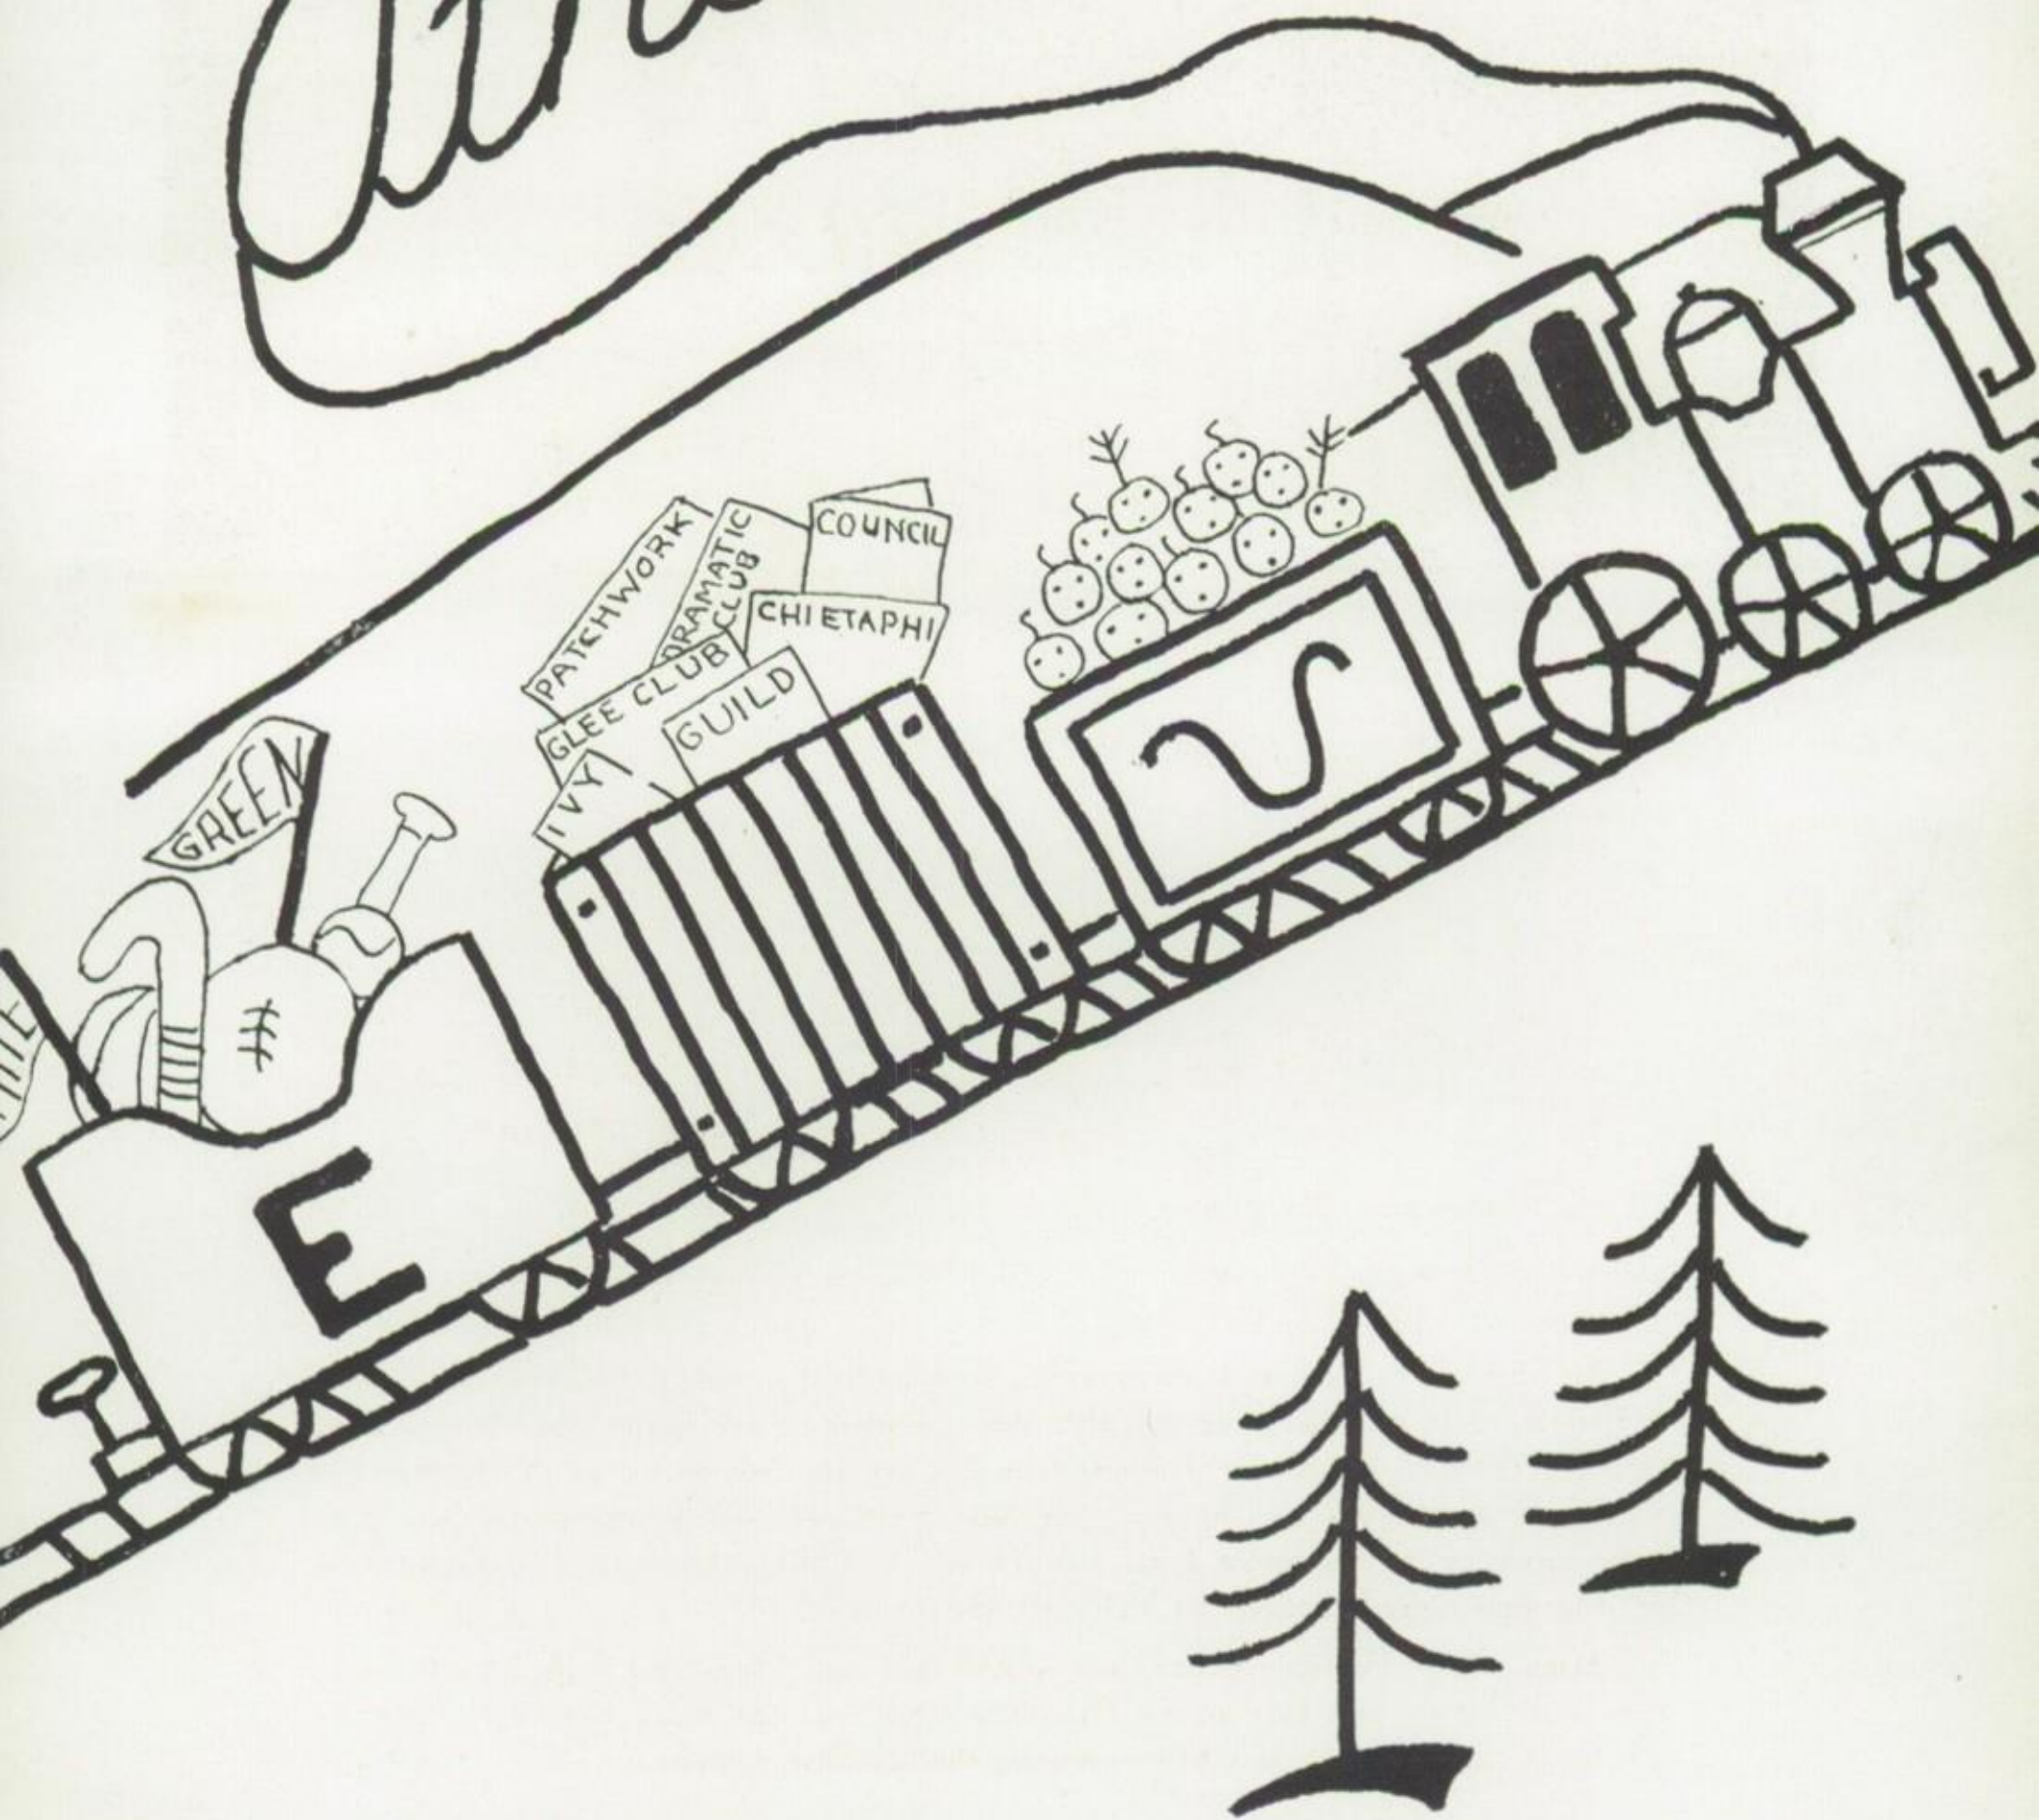

Secretary-Treasurer Toni Horning

Business Manager Maxine Cohen

Mr. Rodgers and Mr. Hammerstein, look us over; here we are. In the future we may be stars on Broadway, but this year we were actresses in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," by Emily Kimbrough and Cornelia Otis Skinner. In addition to our major production for the year, we have produced several one-act plays. The casts consisted of members from the Dramatic Club. All props, make-up, and lighting were ably managed by the girls themselves.

Miss Sharp, our fine leader, has contributed new ideas and helped us in every way possible, so that this year's Dramatic Club was the most fun ever. We are now quite ready to take our places among the Broadway stars.

The E. A. A.

President	Ann Copeland
Secretary	Jean Armentrout
Treasurer	Linda Sturgeon

The Ellis Athletic Association, or E.A.A., is one of the most important organizations of the school. All the girls from the fourth through the twelfth grades are members of the E.A.A., and the board consists of a representative from each grade, the captains of the Green and the White teams, and the officers. The E.A.A. is in charge of all inter-mural and outside sports events, under the supervision of Miss Benson. Awards are given at the end of the year to the girls who have played in enough games to earn the number of points required. Bracelets are also given as awards to the Seniors who have achieved the best athletic records in their high school years at Ellis. Cups are given to the best class teams of the three upper grades in each of the three sports. The E.A.A. gives a Halloween party for the girls of the Middle School each year, and a skit night for the Upper School each Spring.

Under our leader, Ann Copeland, the E.A.A. has completed a very successful year, which has been fun for all.

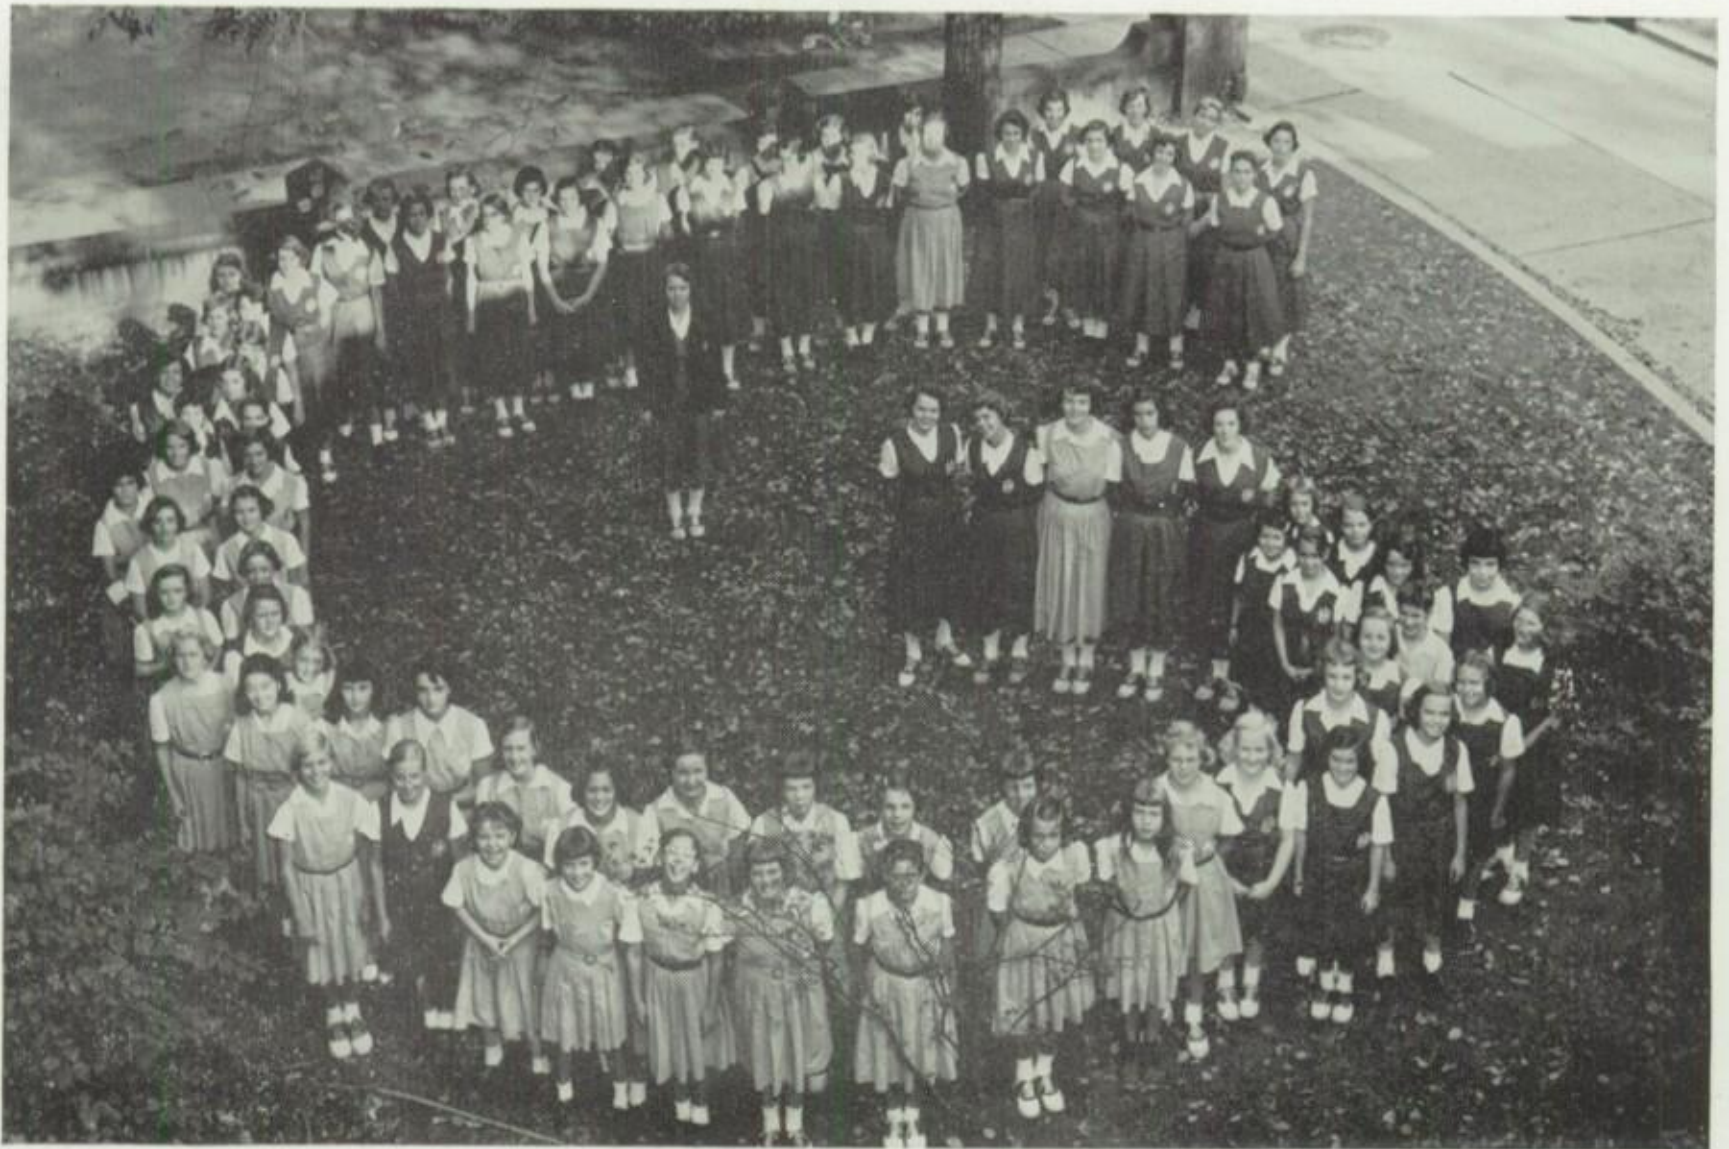

Cheerleaders

Class Song

When life's setting sun
Says life's book is done,
We'll turn the precious leaves
To those sweet memories;
And go back once more
To softball scores,
Back to friends whom we adore.
We'll stroll memories' lane
Together again;
We'll lock the chain of friendship true;
And though we may drift apart,
The love in our hearts
Will call us back, Ellis, to you.

Green Team

CaptainJettie Bergman

GREEN TEAM CHEER

There's a reason to buy, and a reason to sell
There's a reason to shout, and a reason to yell
So shout, Greens, shout!
Hallelujah!
Shout, Greens, shout!
Hallelujah!
So shout!

GREEN TEAM SONG

TUNE: "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp"

Let us raise our voices high
Sing the praises of our team
And prepare to fight and win again this year.
Sportsmanship will be our aim
As we fight with spirit keen
And our victories will show we've naught to fear.

CHORUS:

Fight! Greens! Fight and win the battle.
There's a victory in sight.
Praise will echo far and near
And we'll give a mighty cheer
As we see the Green Team candle burning bright.

(REPEAT CHORUS)

White Team

Captain Anne Kyle

WHITE TEAM CHEER

On this country's great reservation
 There's a team that's best in the nation.
 Mumbo, jumbo, spirit of the White Team
 Beats in our hearts with a boom-lay-boom!
 When we send out our warriors
 We know they'll come back victorious
 Mumbo, jumbo, spirit of the White Team
 Beats in our hearts with a boom-lay-boom!
 With a boom-lay-boom-lay-boom-lay-boom
 With a boom-lay-boom-lay-boom-lay-boom
 With a boom-lay-boom-lay-boom-lay-boom
 Boom! Rah! Whites!

WHITE TEAM SONG

TUNE: "When The Saints Come Marching In"

Throughout the years, our courage high,
 Our banner waving to the sky,
 We'll march along together
 Nothing e'er can still our song.
 In rain or shine, by night or day
 Our heads are up, our hearts are gay.
 For the team's undying fame
 We will try to win the game.
 Oh, Whites are we, the world will see
 Oh whether skies are blue or grey
 And though there are odds against us
 We'll never stop 'til we're on top.
 There are foes to fear, and friends to cheer
 But we'll fight right to the end
 When the victory's won for the Whites
 Yes, we'll know our work is done.

Dear Suzie -

I really don't know what I'd do without you any your little limosine! I'm really indebted to you for life!

It's actually impossible for me to write all I want to say - but without you - this year wouldnt have been anything. You and all your "can it, gubby, jokes etc..." - crazy expressions have really kept me going.
More Power to ya' with J.B. - 'n take it easy... you're really a great gal -
Love - Dad -
